

PRESS RELEASE

Future Market Events Expands Its Portfolio of Trade Shows

Noida, India – 3 December 2024: Future Market Events, one of India’s fastest-growing trade show organizers, is proud to announce the expansion of its trade show portfolio into dynamic new sectors. Within just three years of its inception, the company has cemented its reputation for delivering world-class events across manufacturing, logistics, packaging and various other sectors. This remarkable growth underscores Future Market Events’ commitment to fostering innovation and facilitating business opportunities in India’s booming economy.

Flagship Shows Driving Growth

Future Market Events’ flagship trade shows in the manufacturing, logistics, and packaging sectors have played a pivotal role in its rapid rise. These events have become essential industry platforms, providing exhibitors and attendees with unparalleled networking, knowledge-sharing, and market access opportunities.

New Ventures into High-Growth Sectors

Building on its strong foundation, Future Market Events has expanded its footprint by introducing new trade shows in various high-growth segments including:

- Automotive Components: India’s most comprehensive show for thriving automotive sector, the Auto Components Show and Auto Aftermarket Show will take place in Chennai from 11-13 July 2025 to bring the industry together at an emerging automotive marketplace. The show is expected to gather the South-east Asian auto sector together to open up new opportunities for the Indian market.
- Beauty and Cosmetics: Catering to India’s burgeoning beauty industry, which is projected to grow at a CAGR of 16% over the next five years, the Cosmetics Ingredients Expo together with Homecare Ingredients Expo and Cospack International Expo was launched in August 2024 Chennai to serve the growing sector in Southern India. The show is scheduled to take place on 1-2 August 2025 again in Chennai to bring industry stakeholders together.
- Food Manufacturing: Given the need for innovation and sustainability in the food processing and production, the India Food Manufacturing Show will take place from 16-18 May 2025 together with packaging shows to represent a complete value chain for the food and beverage industry in Pune. The show will gather players from across the country together to offer a complete range of solutions.
- Label Technology: Due for its launch in 2025, the Label Technology Show is India’s first annual trade show for label machines, printing and allied technologies. The show is expected to display cutting-edge innovations and trends in labeling technologies for diverse industries and will take place from 16-18 May 2025 in Pune alongside the packaging and food manufacturing shows.

Siddharth Naryainn, Co-Founder & Director of Future Market Events shares his excitement on these developments: “India’s economic growth and industrial evolution present a wealth of opportunities for businesses worldwide. Our trade fairs are the perfect market-entry strategy for global companies looking to venture into the Indian market. At Future Market Events, our goal is to create platforms that connect businesses, facilitate collaborations, and drive innovation.”

Chaitali Davangeri, Director of Future Market Events further echoes the positive sentiments: “The Indian automotive and cosmetics sectors are brimming with potential. The auto components industry is set to reach $200 billion by 2030, driven by advancements in electric vehicles and global supply chain realignment. Similarly, India’s beauty and food market is undergoing unprecedented growth, fuelled by rising disposable incomes and a young, aspirational population. Our events in these sectors will provide a vital platform for industry leaders to showcase innovations, connect with buyers, and set new benchmarks for success.”
